THE STUDENTS OF

KINSTON HIGH SCHOOL

KINSTON, N. C.

Volume 4 June, 1928

Foreword

As we come to the close of another year, the *n*th in the history of Kinston High School, we attempt to chronicle in picture and story the events of the past year. We, the Class of 1928, have endeavored to make this book a true Kay-Aitch-Ess of our fourth and last year in our beloved Alma Mater. May this book find its justification in bringing to mind the sweet memories of the glorious associations and privileges which the Kinston Hi students enjoy.

DEDICATION

Because it is the desire of the student body of Grainger High School;

Because he is a man of rich personality, vital inspiration, and deep sympathy;

Because he has set for us a standard which, if faithfully followed, will lead us to the acquisition of those accomplishments essential to noble citizenship;

We, the student body, dedicate this, the fourth volume of our annual, to

In Memoriam

Payne Wooten Hunter

"Far off thou art, but ever nigh:
Methinks my friend is richly shrined;
Ring out the grief that saps the mind,
For those that here we see no more."

On the morning of July 9, 1927, a loved and valued one was taken from Kinston High School. The voice of the Almighty called, and amidst the singing of the angels Payne Wooten Hunter went to eternal rest.

The value of Payne Hunter can be understood when his brilliant scholastic record is thought of, his ever loyal devotion to his school, the wonderful school spirit which he always showed, and his high moral standard of life. His popularity never lapsed, but ever grew stronger among his friends and those who knew him.

Though we bow to the will of the Father, we are deeply grieved at the loss of one who was ever true to the principles for which he stood.

—o—

Evelyn Matthews Waters

A faithful worker and loving comrade of the Class of 1928, who was called to rest January 30, 1926. In recognition of what she was during her short stay with us, and what she promised to be in the future, we dedicate this space in our KAY-AITCH-ESS.

Class Poem

God's sunlight floods the world, while bud and leaf
Tenderly unfold to greet the day;
A galaxy of blossoms, sheaf on sheaf,
Bloom to cheer the wand'rer on his way.

Sweet springtime garden of our high school days!
So finely tended with a nurture rare
Of love and wisdom! We can only gaze
On teacher-friends and bless them for their care.

Bless them for the tender thought they gave
To make each bud a blossom, fragrant, bright,
That, blooming in Life's garden, fruitful, brave,
It might charm the senses, cheer the sight
Of weary travelers along Life's road,
Lightening their burden and their pain—
A flower blooms, and lo! the heavy load
Is never quite so burdensome again!

So bless you, Springtime blossoms! Bless you all!
Grant that you and I may do our part
To make this world a brighter, sweeter ball,
Fragrant as the garden of God's heart.

ELEANOR WOOTEN.

It was on September 8, 1924, that our Freshman Class landed its air plane "Freshman" at the Kayaitchess landing field.

We thought it quite a long hop and it took us a long time to become accustomed to our surroundings. We experienced many trials and disappointments and were the subjects of many jokes, but we were soon to learn that we must grin and bear it.

Then one day our dear school building was destroyed by flames and we were "Orphans of the Storm" seeking a new abode.

Word came that a new family of Freshmen would come and occupy our new home—so we moved on to Sophomore Hill. Here we labored and struggled, finally to be the victors of Algebra and English, and we moved on once again, this time to Junior Heights. Life was new and strange, for we had a beautiful new building in which to live and work. This was a busy year at Junior Heights, for we had much to do. We chose our class officers and selected our class rings, and then came the Junior-Senior banquet; this will ever live in the minds of our class.

Then news came that we must move on once more, this time to "Senior Reserve." Th's was a long, tiresome journey, but we were successful in landing.

"Here at last!" shouted Mamie Hines, as we landed, and Grace Brown, who is always original, replied, "And isn't it cute?"

This year was the hardest, but we were soon repaid for our hardships because along came the Junior-Senior banquet. This was a most enjoyable affair, as it was held at the New Hotel, the pride of Kinston.

We Seniors did not go to Washington at Easter as was customary but planned to go in June.

When we graduated we left our brothers and sisters to carry on while we went out to explore the world and gain more knowledge.

HISTORIAN.

It was a year ago today that I had what I consider the most interesting of experiences. It had been my delight and privilege to spend some time abroad. I had visited many places and seen many strange things. At last I reached Egypt—Egypt, the land of mystery, the land of secrets. When our caravan started slowly across the desert, I felt as if I were under a spell. The feeling was strange, mystical. I could not analyze it. It lasted for several days during which time my mind kept revolving about my old classmates. It was impossible for me to direct my thoughts in other channels, however hard I might try. But the thoughts were pleasant, and not having heard the fate of some of the members of the Class of '28, I began to wonder. One evening when the sun was sinking red beneath the western sands, we made camp in a beautiful, green oasis. I learned from one of the camel drivers that we were in the vicinity of the Pyramids and the Sphinx. A thought came to me. I determined to make a pilgrimage to the Sprinx that night and send forth an invocation concerning my friends and classmates. I procured a guide and we set out just as the desert moon made her appearance. We soon reached our destination. I bade my guide wait for me behind one of the pyramids while I accomplished my mission. With my heart beating madly, I bowed down in the awful presence of the Sphinx. For the space of a minute, I was at a loss what to say, but at last words came to me. I spoke:

"O mighty Solver of Mysteries and Discloser of Secrets, reveal unto me, I pray, what I would know, that I may tell my people."

I was startled by an awful sound. The Sphinx spoke:

"Hasten, and thou shalt know, Evolved Protoplasm."

"Kinston High School," I said. "Dost thou know it and the destiny of those that went forth from its portals in the year 1928, O Awful Intelligence?"

"I know well that institution of learning and the destinies of thy classmates, O Atom of Nothingness! Listen and I will reveal my knowledge unto thee."

Then the Sphinx discussed in the following manner:

"Presumptuous Mortal, hear then that which has befallen your classmates in the last decade.

"Mme. Gladys Stroud, a Metropolitan Opera star, will make her first appearance on the concert stage of France, October 6, 1938. Mme. Stroud is the favorite dramatic soprano of today. She has sung in many parts of the Old World and America is at her feet.

"Thou already knowest, O Groveler in the Dust, that John Mewborn is president of the United States, for thou cast thy paltry vote for him.

"Dorothy Raymore is an author. Her most notable work is 'How to Catch a Man and Hold Him,' which appeared under an assumed name.

"The cartoons which appear anonymously in 'The Home Town Gazette' are the work of thy beloved classmate, William Coleman. His name shall soon rival that of George McManus and Bud Fisher.

"O Thou of Little Worth, thou shalt soon meet one in China who is zealously Christianizing the heathen. Her name is Gola Mae Stanley.

"Sebia Holton is a much beloved teacher of primary children. She has deserved much praise.

"Roger McDaniel and Edward Osborn, in their comedy skit, are headliners with Keith Vaudeville this season.

"Verna Worthington has been married for lo, these ten years. Her domestic life is exceedingly peaceful.

"O Ignorant Protoplasm, Carrye Braxton is at this moment signing a contract to paint the picture of the King of England.

"Zoe Waller is quite famous for her kindergarden work. She is quite pleased with her occupation.

"North Carolina is ably represented in the National Senate by Joe White Mallison and Edwin Stahl.

"Nellie Beach and Doris Lanier are enjoying life in the Garden of Flowers. Thou canst construe a double meaning to the statement if thou dost desire it.

"O One of No Renown, Christine Williams is a model in a select French Modiste Shop. Her occupation elates her to the Nth degree.

"Gentry McLawhorn will conduct a Bureau of Information for lovelorn lassies, as she is the best authority on the management of such affairs.

"Carlyle Rawls is superintendent of schools in New York City. He is also married but not being content with married bliss, he became prominent in school affairs.

"Learn, O Less than Nothing, that Lena Waller is very successful as the director of the 'Hotsy-Totsy' Orchestra. She plays the piano. But this is not strange, for, as thou rememberest, she once held the position of chief banger.

"Mildred Stroud is the contended wife of a Methodist minister. Several little ones bless the household.

"Katherine Pittman is enjoying a perfect round of gayety in New York. She is married to a wealthy broker and is the leader of New York society.

"Susie Mae Hawkins and Frances Cook reign supreme over their respective domestic circles in Kinston.

"A new tractor is on the market, and it has acquired a fortune for its inventor. It is called the Eugene tractor, and the U. S. patent shows the name Sutton.

"Ella Rinker Brown, Mildred Harper, Helen Davis, Doris Grady, and Thelma Davis are all enjoying married bliss.

"Know, O Worm of the Earth, that Catherine Cook is Cook no longer. She is the wife of a wealthy insurance man of the city of—well, never mind.

"Margaret Amos is painting scenes. They are all studies in brown. But this is not strange, for her name is Brown.

"Ray Wooten, with the help of his loving spouse, is getting rich quick managing a chicken farm.

"Allen Curtis is world-famed for his baseball record. He has scored even greater than Babe Ruth.

"Thou wilt be surprised to know that Margaret Edwards is married, for she was sworn into the club of Man-Haters in the year 1928, but Margaret has a career, too. She has taken the honored place of Eleanor Boardman in the movies. Leo Edwards is her director.

"Grace Brown and Virginia Smith are proprietors of a lingerie shop in Smoky Run, N. C. The name of their worthy place of business is 'The Sharpe Silk Shop for Every Shape'.

"Thou knowest already that Elmer Harrison is now superintendent of thy beloved institution, Old Grainger. He is loved by every member of the High School, and has succeeded in making a vast improvement in it.

"Abe Stadiem was recently elected to the House of Representatives by an overwhelming majority. Much of the credit for his election goes to Julian Vatz, the celebrated orator, who was Mr. Stadiem's campaign manager.

"Horace Tyndall and Ray Taylor have formed a partnership. The sign in front of their office reads: 'Taylor & Tyndall—Civil Engineers.'

"Eleanor Wooten has become quite well known as a movie star. Also much attention is being focussed on George Vick, who is her leading man.

"O Thou of Little Worth, know that Grace Cox is the official organizer of revolutions for college students against the faculty. She is very efficient in her work, and she never fails in her purpose. Her husband is jealous of her work, however, as it takes her away from him so much.

"Julis Gray was recently discovered by Harrison Fisher and is quite busy these days posing for Neysa McMein and other noted artists.

"John Miller and Melford Wilson are now prominent brokers on Wall Street. Success has reached them both.

"Madeline Adallah is spending some time in Arabia, thus fulfilling a life-long ambition to watch the sun set on the desert.

"Helen Spencer enjoys teaching in the Hawaiian Islands while Lucille Sellars makes a very competent private secretary to the Attorney General of U. S., Waddell Waters.

"Thou Brainless Idiot, Fannie Forrest is now an instructor of Latin at Wellesley College and Mary Ward Hardy is editing a book on 'The Poland of Today."

"Mamie Hines LaRoque is writing short stories for Hilda Shute's magazine, 'Racy Ripples.'

"Frederick Whitaker has been appointed Ambassador to Spain, and Albert Cowper is our Consul in Persia.

"Henry Temple and Elizabeth Miller, stars of 'Marion' of last season, are considering Eugenia Tull's new play as their next co-starring vehicle."

Here the Sphinx closed her awful mouth. She has told something of every member of the class but myself. I, having had an uneventful decade, wished to learn of my future. I, therefore, invoked the awful presence.

"O August Personification of Knowledge," I prayed, "Tell me of my future."

There was no answer.

"Mighty Surveyor of the Ages, reveal unto me my fate."

But the ancient lady refused to speak, and I went on my way, rejoicing in the knowledge I had gained of my former classmates.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
COUNTY OF LENOIR,
CITY OF KINSTON.

We, the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-eight of Kinston High School, aforesaid state and county, being in sound mind and full possession of all our faculties, do hereby make, declare, and publish this document as our last will and testament.

We realize that our goal has been reached, preparatory to enrolling ourselves in the great school of life, and now it is our desire to dispose of several assets, privileges, and rights in the following manner, to wit:

First, we direct that the funeral services for the senior privileges be conducted by the school board, only provided they be carried out with all the dignity and pomp which they merit.

ITEM I.

To our beloved Alma Mater we leave undying gratitude for the many noble services she has rendered us since we first entered her majestic doors of learning as green and ignorant freshmen.

ITEM II.

We shall always hold a permanent place in our hearts for our faculty, who have labored, in vain we fear, to teach us the ways of the world. If only we may be ab'e to pass the good work on to the coming generation, we shall not feel that the work of this faculty was to no purpose.

ITEM III.

Section 1—To the Juniors, who shall soon take our places, we do bequeath all rights, privileges, and dignity of the Seniors, together with the right to publish the KAY-AITCH-ESS, our school annual, and the Connecting Link, our school paper. It is our will that they make the best use possible of proverbial senior dignity, hoping they may become a better class than we have been able to be.

Section 2—To the Sophomores, we hereby leave all good counsel, wisdom and advice that we have been able to acquire from various sources during the past four (4) years, and refer them during our absence to the future faculty.

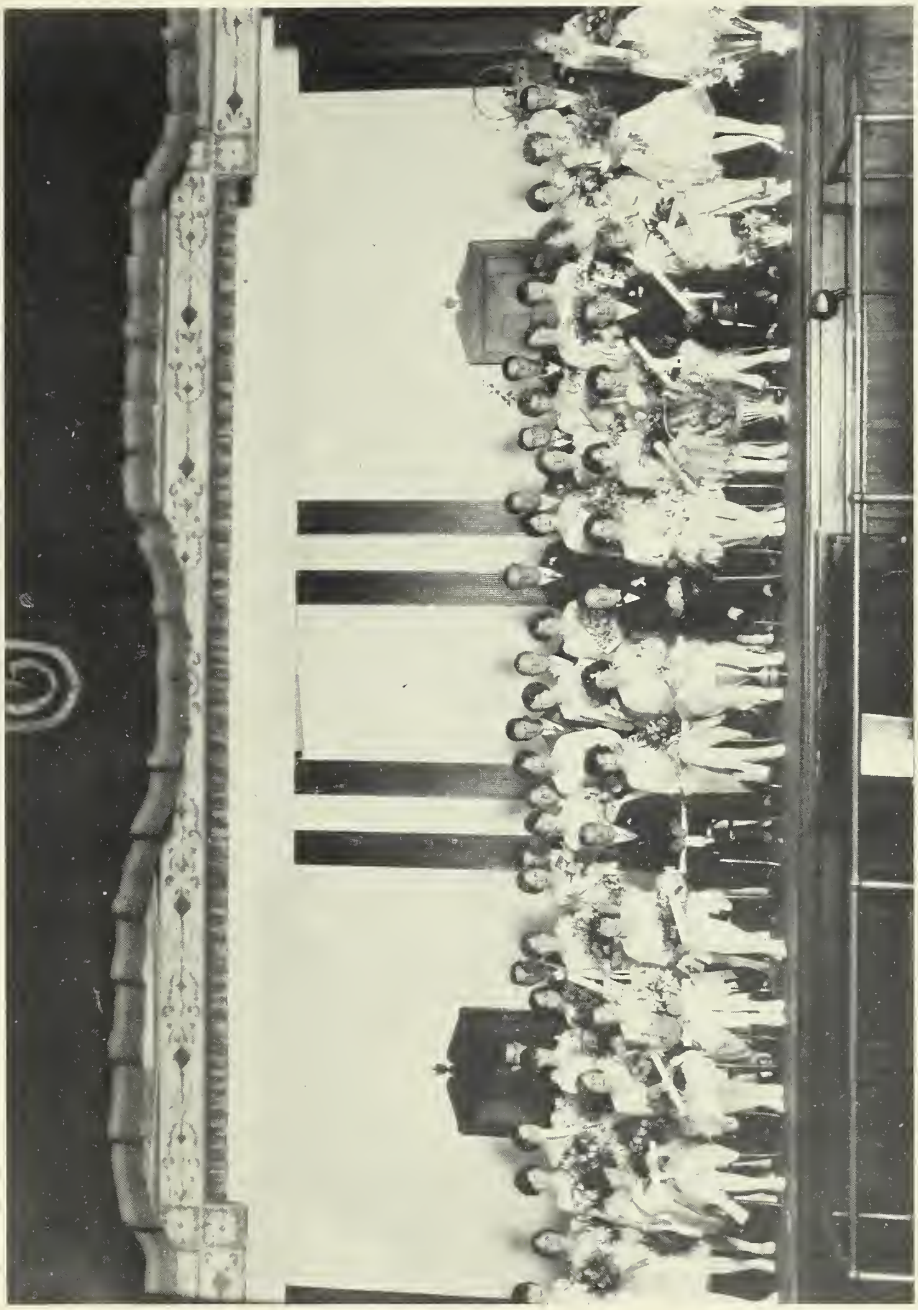

Section 3—Whereas, the Freshman Class has become so prominent in affairs pertaining to the school, we advise that they make full use of our store of common sense, authorizing the superintendent to give them a diploma in three years, certifying that they have acquired all of the common sense willed to them by the Class of '28.

Lastly, we nominate the superintendent to execute this, our last will and testament.

In testimony whereof, we, the Senior Class of 1928, have to this last will and testament set our hands and seal, this the first day of June, anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight, hereby revoking and making void all other wills made heretofore by us.

(Signed) THE CLASS OF 1928 [SEAL].

The boys had a very good season, and so with the aid of schoolmates and friends, they attended the State Conference at Raleigh, where they played the team from Hugh Morson High School there. Although our team was eliminated from the remainder of the games, they feel that the trip was very beneficial. Better luck next time, boys!

JOKES.

Cop (to man driving new car who passed the "Stop" sign): "Hey, there, can't you read?"
Motorist: "Sure I can, but I can't stop."

* * *

Willie: "Pa, what is a parasite?"
His Pa: "A parasite, son, is a man who walks through a revolving door without doing his share of pushing."

* * *

We noticed the following on a poster advertising a school dance: "Girls may attend this dance, but no dresses are to be worn above the knees." We tried to get tickets, but none were to be had.

* * *

Western chain store advertised as follows: "Apples, oranges, imported nuts, and fruitcake. Come in now and avoid the rush. The earlybird always gets the worm."

* * *

Bellhop (to newly-ushered-in guest): "Anything I can do for you?"
The Wise Guy: "No, I have some in my suitcase."

* * *

First Kid: "Gee, Jimmie, when I went by your house this morning I heard somebody swearing something awful."
Second Kid: "Oh, that was my dad. He was late for church an' couldn't find his hymn book."

* * *

"How do you know that Adam used sugar?"
Answer: "When he raised Cain."

* * *

The hand that socks the husband rules the pocketbook.

* * *

She: "I just couldn't think of anything poisonous enough to call him."
Another: "Did you call him a bootlegger?"

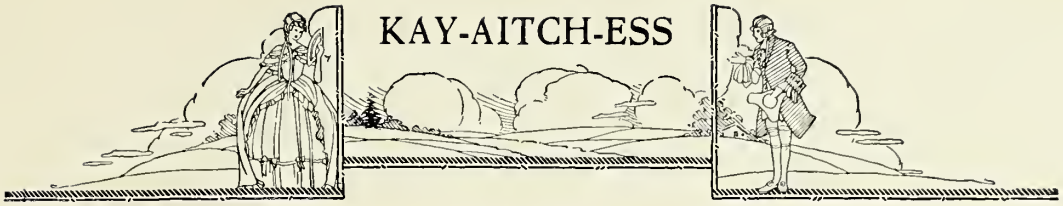

* * *

"What do three balls mean in front of a pawn shop?"
"Two to one you won't get it back."

* * *

Motorist: "Is this a one-way street?"
Cop: "Yes, and there are no two ways about it."

Women have a keen sense of humor—the more you humor them the better they like it.

* * *

"Is he? Say, that guy can't even take his whisky straight."

* * *

Fresh: "Ever read Carlyle's Essay on Burns?"
Another: "I'm not in the medical school."

* * *

"Im going to have to stop drinking coffee for breakfast."
"Why so?"
"I can't sleep in any of my classes any more."

* * *

Roger: "Doctor, I'm going to die."
Doctor: "What makes you think so?"
Roger: "My lifetime fountain pen just broke."

* * *

Bet: "I think necking is positively repulsive."
Mamie Hines: "I don't like it, either."
Bet: "Shake, sister, we're both liars."

* * *

"Would you believe it, I only got forty on that history exam!"
"Dearie, you don't know the half of it."

* * *

Lecturer: "I have faced wild tigers, raging wolves, terrible lions, and—"
Voice from the Audience: "Come on home with me and help me face my wife."

Can't study in the winter,
Gotta play basketball;
Can't study in the spring,
Gotta play baseball;
Can't play in the summer,
Gotta girl.

* * *

Aged Gentleman: "My boy, I'm getting an old, feeble man these days."
Fresh: "Whatta you gonna do with him when you get him?"

* * *

Bill: "I found a hairpin in the soup."
Waitress: "Goody, look and see if you can find my comb, too."

"Why do you employ such dumb looking salesmen?"
"Well, it makes the customer feel that they can't help but get the best end of the bargain."

* * *

"Got any gin?"
"What do you want with gin?"
"To make some gingerale."

* * *

"The state is sending my brother East."
"Oratorical contest?"
"No, grand larceny."

* * *

At the Dance

Abe: "I heard your name was Smith; did you hear mine was Stadiem?"

* * *

Waddell: "I kissed her while she wasn't looking."
Layton: "What did she do?"
Waddell: "She would'nt look at me the rest of the evening."

* * *

Milburn: "Who hit my little brother?"
Melford: "I did. What about it?"
Milburn: "Nothing. Only you sure give him a hell of a lick."

* * *

Coach: "Don't mind that big guy. The bigger they are the harder they fall."
Louis Grady: "Yeah, but suppose he falls on me?"

* * *

Burglar (to business manager of annual): "Keep quiet or I'll blow your brains out; it's money I'm looking for."
Howell: "Just a minute and I'll help you look for it."

* * *

Abe Would Like to Know—

How much does a shirt-waist?
Where does the kitchen sink?
How long does a fox trot?
Who does the train track?
What did day break?
Where does the newsstand?
Why does a windowbox?

* * *

Ike: "I'd face death for you, darling."
Katherine: "Why didn't you face that bulldog yesterday?"
Ike: "He wasn't dead."

* * *

George S.: "What would you give for a voice like mine?"
Miss McDearman: "Chloroform."

* * *

Horace: "You know I played the organ for years."
Roy: "Why did you give it up?"
Horace: "The monkey died."
